STOP PRESS: Help has arrived!

Do you need help getting your business recognised by your potential customers? We can help! We offer a range of services that will help give your business the kick start it needs.

WEBSITES

- We can assist you with the development and maintenance of a professionally designed and built website. We'll construct a website for you from go to whoa – including writing and adding all your content to the site, and maintaining it on a monthly or weekly basis.
- We have over 20 years in the print and production industry,.

- In the age of digital photography, anyone with a camera can take a photo that can be published in a magazine or newspaper. But not everyone can capture that special image that tells a story. Hi-Tech Media Solutions can produce the photos you need - from action sports photographs, portraits, landscapes or product images for a catalogue or trade magazine.

COPYWRITING

- We have more than 20 years experience in copywriting, and in being able to produce copy that suits a particular business or individual's needs. Our work has appeared in national and international publications and trade journals. Whether you require a press release, a feature story or any other type of copywriting, Hi-Tech Media Solutions can help.

- We use the latest in desktop publishing software, including Adobe InDesign and PhotoShop. We can ensure that your advert stands out from the crowd, or that your newsletter is actually picked up off the counter and is read by your customers - or potential customers.
- We'll construct an advert that helps capture your target market.

PUBLISHING

STORAGE

- Hi-Tech Media Solutions are proud to be a distributor of the revolutionary Doc-U-Stor archiving system, designed, developed and made in Australia.
- Doc-U-Stor's vision is to revolutionise the storage of goods, records and files, and to forever change the way you look at the much-maligned task of archiving your precious documents. Check it out on our website now!

Contact us now for more information, and for a quote on the professional services that you need. Our prices are competitive, and our attention to detail is second to none.
